Heart by heart – Demi Lovato

When your soul finds the soul it was waiting for When someone walks into your heart through an open door When your hand finds the hand it was meant to hold Don't let go Someone comes into your world Suddenly your world has changed forever

No there's no one else's eyes That could see into me No one else's arms can lift Lift me up so high Your love lifts me out of time And you know my heart by heart

When you're one with the one you were meant to find Everything falls in place, all the stars align When you're touched by the cloud That has touched your soul Don't let go Someone comes into your life It's like they've been in your life forever

No there's no one else's eyes That could see into me No one else's arms can lift Lift me up so high Your love lifts me out of time And you know my heart by heart

So now we've found our way to find each other So now I found my way, to you

No there's no one else's eyes That could see into me

No there's no one else's eyes

That could see into me No one else's arms can lift Lift me up so high Your love lifts me out of time And you know my heart by heart
