Lautar – Pasha Parfeny

At the wedding tonight she looks nicer than the bride When she smiles, I forget my lyrics I got blind, I got mad, not from the diamonds she had But from the beauty that puts my heart on fire You have never been at my show You haven't seen before how looks the trumpet But the sound goes straight to your soul Gets you out of control This trumpet makes you my girl Just like from paradise, you came down from the skies On a plane which belongs to your daddy Welcome to carousel The wine is sweet, but take care, Cause too much is no good for a princess You have never been at my show You haven't seen before how looks the trumpet But the sound goes straight to your soul Gets you out of control This trumpet makes you my girl
