

Home – Above & Beyond (feat. Hannah Thomas)

Here I come to find myself, catch the tide,
Looking for a peace at the end of the line
Sometimes I can't help myself, fever's high,
I'm all at sea and so unwise
I'm so afraid I'll lose your love,
As time goes by,
But courage is a fire and a beacon so bright
The sunset built a memory, our love sign,
And all at sea we come alive
Will I wash away, turning like a stone?
I need a place where I belong
Call a setting sun to throw me down a rope
And take me to a place called home
I close my eyes, I know you're there,
Love of mine,
Standing on the shore in a world I design
The sunset fires a lonely flare into the sky,
And all at sea we say goodbye
Will I wash away, turning like a stone?
I need a place where I belong
Call a setting sun to throw me down a rope
And take me to a place called home
Looking for a place called home
Will I wash away, turning like a stone?
I need a place where I belong
Call a setting sun to throw me down a rope
And take me to a place called home
Looking for a place called home
