

Curtain Call – Aiden Grimshaw

Curtain calls

There's no more alcohol

As the rain begins, feel it soaking in

To your bones

Don't let time be wasted

Let your heart dictate this

Take my hands and follow me

Lose control with me tonight

Give me all your love please

Give me all your love please, please

Give me all your love please

I said give me all your love please, please

Silent stares, big leap

I'm unprepared

But I'm fighting it, reigniting this

Once more

Burning bright sensation

There's no medication

That would re-create

This world we've made

Because it's ours

And you say oh my love

You know I've come to bring you peace

Give me all your love please

Give me all your love

Give me all your love please

Oh my love, you know I've come to bring you peace

You'll be saying oh my love

You know I've come to bring you peace

I need your loving all day baby

I need your loving all night

I keep you warm and I hold you tight

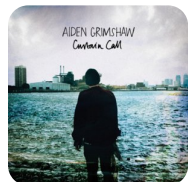

I need your loving all night

I need your loving all day

Said only you can hear the words I mean to say

Give me all your love please

Give me all your love
Give me all your love please
Curtain calls
There's no more alcohol
As the rain begins
Feel it soaking in
