Never Far Behind – Aly & AJ

I know this really isn't you I know your heart is somewhere else And I'll do anything I can To help you break out of this spell I see you following your crowd I know you're trying to fit in But if your gonna find yourself You gotta start from deep, deep thin Hold on to what you believe I will always be your friend I know who you are inside I am with you till the end Never far behind I am standing in the distance You can take your time And I will be there waiting Never far behind Yeah Never far behind I am sending you a message Don't ever think that it's too late When you care about someone There is always room for change You're allowed to make mistakes It's a part of every life I don't see you every different The truth is shining in your eyes Hold on to what you believe I will always be your friend I know who you are inside I am with you till the end Never far behind I am standing in the distance You can take your time And I will be there waiting Never far behind

Yeah Never far behind You can take your time And I know With all my heart I will always be your friend I know who you are inside I am with you till the end Never far behind I am standing in the distance You can take your time And I will be here waiting Waiting by my side God Is never far behind I am sending you a message
