

Time – Andain

Well nothin's changed and it's today
Maybe it's better tomorrow
And now is now and this is pain
I'll find something for now to numb this ache

Time

It won't let me down,

It will take you

Down

To a place where

I can't live without you

These swollen eyes have much to say

Too much to listen this early and still,

This hopeful girl don't look so great

It won't be much longer

I'll have to take but,

Time

It won't let me down,

It will take you

Down

To a place where

I can't live without you

So i'll run fast through life today

And get my heart to beat louder

A broken heart sounds the same way

And running will keep me from hearing it

Time

It won't let me down,

It will take you

Down

To a place where

I can't live without you

Without you
