

Trigger – Ania Byrcyn

I don't understand what you want from me
Wherever i go, i don't feel like i'm free
'cause you always stay right beside me
That's why
Wherever i go, i don't feel like i'm free
And you stand behind my back
Telling me, do this and that
God, but i'm stressing out
That i won't be good enough
But i know that i will fight
'cause i want to do what's right
And i know that i don't have a range
But that must change
C'ause i'm a trigger
And i know what i deserve
And i'll work so better not try to disturb me
'cause i'm a trigger
And i know what i deserve
And i'll work so better not try to disturb
So i think that i can change my mind
I can open my eyes and stop to be so blind
And now it's time to dream in color
To cross the line, to cross every border
But you stand behind my back
Telling me, do this and that
God, but i'm stressing out
That i won't be good enough
But i know that i will fight
'cause i want to do what's right
And i know that i don't have a range
But that must change
'cause i'm a trigger
And i know what i deserve
And i'll work so better not try to disturb me
'cause i'm a trigger
And i know what i deserve

And i'll work so better not try to disturb
Now everyone keeps talking
But i'll come out with something
I'll set a fire on an ocean storm
I'm gonna move a mountain
I swear i'll come with something
That anyone would expect me to do so
'cause i'm a trigger
And i know what i deserve
And i'll work so better not try to disturb me
'cause i'm a trigger
And i know what i deserve
And i'll work so better not try to disturb
