

Don't even try – Bryan Adams

It's alright tonight – what can you do?

It's alright tonight – she's over you

You took the love she gave and then you threw it all away

No time for goodbye

So don't even try – don't even try

It's too late for love – what can you say?

It's too late for love – now she's gone away

You're searchin' for an answer there's no need to wonder

Why

You made her cry

So don't even try – don't even try

You could call her up again some other day

But she'll never let you in – just walk away

It's alright tonight – just let it be

It's alright tonight – now she's with me

You know you can't go on pretending, it's time to realize

You told her lies

So don't even try

Don't even try

Don't even try

Don't even try
