Reverie - Chris Isaak

Where do you go when it's over When the reverie goes up in flames There's no such thing as tomorrow When you love me then leave me this way I know that it's over Till you need me, again Your eyes avoid me, It's a game that I can't win Wish I could be like you And have a heart that can't be broken Where do you go when it's over When the reverie goes up in flames There's no such thing as tomorrow When you love me then leave me this way You say you love me But you never say my name Is there someone else Do you treat him just the same Oh you hide it well I wish I knew just what you're thinking Where do you go when it's over When the reverie goes up in flames There's no such thing as tomorrow When you love me then leave me this way
