

Wishing It Was You – Connie Francis

Tomorrow when I'm walking down the aisle
I'll try to hide my heartache with a smile
'Cause when I look at him and say I do
In my heart, I'll be wishing it was you
Tomorrow when you see me pass you by
Just turn your head so you won't see me cry
And just remember when I say I do
In my heart, I'll be wishing it was you
You listened when they said I cheated
And you listened when they said I lied
Yes, you listened to all of their stories
But you didn't listen to my side
So tomorrow when the chapel bells begin
I'll have to think of you as just a friend
But when I say those precious words, I do
In my heart, I'll be wishing it was you
In my heart (in my heart)
I'll be wishing (I'll be wishing)
It was you
