

Ghost Mantra – Endy Yden

Successful woman

She gets any man she wants to love her
If good enough not to embarrass her
In front of her parents or so-called friends
Her beauty - it's magic
She's lost on the road to perfection
That you want to despise
But you never do
You want to give her what she expects
And I don't know why can't you break free
You give me bullshit I don't understand
That I've been so wrong and you're so in love
Just in case you didn't follow
- you're utterly fucked

Successful woman

She makes you believe you are happy
She'll give you rewards for being
Such a good dog
So take this bone, one at a time
You're brave and honest
You'll do what you can to prove you're worthy
Though many have lost trying to try too hard
Yet no one gives her what she expects
And I don't know why can't you break free
You give me bullshit I don't understand
That I've been so wrong and you're so in love
Just in case you didn't follow
- you're utterly fucked!
