

Hard To Be A God – Grant Stevens

An almighty presence that dominates your World,
You could never be happy with everything
You got
Cut off your emotions with paradise you go
Building up your empire with your gold
Hard to be a god
You fall into a circle that never lets you go
You're in possession of a hollow empty home
Living in the strangest land, but how it
Shows it's soul
And now you're looking for a way, for all
The words to say,
To show love means a lot
Hard to be a god
When love has left you cold, it's hard to
Be a god
Take a chance, won't you let go and break
The magic hold
Hard to be a god
We're always searching for the answers,
The clues remain the same
You give your verdict with no consequence
For pain
Living up the wildest dreams, the truth
Just won't be told,
And now you're looking for a way, the path
To your escape
The fire is burning strong
Hard to be a god
When love has left you cold, it's hard to
Be a god
No matter what's been told, you know, it's
Hard to be a god
Take a chance, won't you let go and break
The magic hold

(Now won't you give it a chance)
You know, it's hard to be, so hard to be a
God
When love has left you cold, it's hard to be
A god
No matter what's been told, you know, it's
Hard to be a god
Just take a chance, won't you let go and
Break the magic hold
(Why don't you give it a chance)
It's hard to be a god
