

Missing You – Green Day

Waking up
Feeling naked
In my clothes, inside a room that's vacant
Lost my nerve
It's unnerving
I know there is something I'm forgetting

I searched the moon
I lost my head, I even looked under the bed
I punch the walls, I hit the streets
I'm pounding the pavement looking

I'm missing you
I'm missing you
You're not around and I'm a complete disaster
I'm missing you

Remember, it was the first time
I told you I love you at the bus station
Don't forget, 'cause it's not over
I'm not lost 'cause I'm just missing you

I searched the moon
I lost my head, I even looked under the bed
I punch the walls, I hit the streets
I'm pounding the pavement looking

I'm missing you
I'm missing you
You're not around and I'm a complete disaster
I'm missing you

Say hey!

Well, she's my blood
And she's my soul

I'm get so lost out in the cold

Feel so far

Like this lone star

It gets so hard when I'm missing you

I'm missing you

I'm missing you

You're not around and I'm a fuckin disaster

I'm missing you
