

Puppet – Ib

Welcome to my world that's painted with sadness
There's no light of sun
There you can't hear any sound at all
Here I'm waiting silently for you, father
Why you were so cruel to left poor Mary alone?

La la la

Please take me away,
I desperately promise to be a good girl,
To be worthy of your love
I don't need the paintbooks, the dolls and the dresses,
Just tell me, why you've left your pictures and gone?

La la la

Who are you, stranger with the red rose in your hand
I liked you from the first sight, I wanna be your friend,
Let's play
I've never asked for this place that's called my home,
But hope, you will be staying with me until the end

La la la

Please, don't be scared of me I'm a good girl
I just want to be with you to forget my sorrow
I'm tired of being the puppet of this world
Oh, tell me, why do you want to go with this man?

La la la

Is he your true knight in the shining armor?
Who'll sacrifice himself just for your sake with no fear
But then
Why he resembles the one, who created
This gallery and picture, that gave me a birth?

La la la

My tears are falling Oh, why it's so painful
I did nothing wrong, so why do you hate me so much?
This burning canvas became your cruel answer
And now flames unsparingly kiss me goodnight

La la la

Welcome to her world that's lying in ashes
There's a sea of fire, There is no way to run at all
She only wanted to be with her father
But little Mary is melting in her abyss ALONE
