

Happy in My heartache – Josh Groban

Coffee is on the table, and I
Just can't seem to wake
Up this aching heart of mine
One more day without you and I'll be fine
I know I'm good for waiting
But waitings wasted time
Oh and I,
I don't take it lightly,
The trouble that I've gone through,
To get you to know who I am
Oh and I,
I can't find a reason
To be happy in this heartache,
'Cause I should know better than that
I'm better than that
Wicked winds are blowing through the halls
These old familiar faces are
Clinging to the walls
I know its cold but I can't feel at all
And I know these walls are crumbling,
And I won't stay to watch them fall
Oh and I,
I don't take it lightly,
The trouble that I've gone through,
To get you to know who I am
Oh and I,
I can't find a reason
To be happy in my heartache,
'Cause I should know better than that
But I can't stop loving you
I don't know what to do
To keep holding on
Oh and I,
I don't take it lightly,
The trouble that I've gone through,
I've given you all that I am

Oh and I,
I can't find a reason
To be happy in my heartache,
'Cause I should know better than that
Oh I'm better than that
