Neon Lights – Loreen

Some call me when they need me
Some people make me up
Some hear me but can't see me
Some have me in their blood
I'm the black in all the matter
The wind that strokes your hair
The crack within the pattern
The empty in the air
Even if I, if I want to
I can't let go
Can't unlove you
Even if I, if I want to
You should know that I'll be
Watching every step
I'm the neon light that's
Running through your cells
I'm the flicker on your skin
I'm in every breath
You're the part of me that I'll never regret
When you're lost I'll be the stranger
And the taxi driver
The flashing light, the night time fighter
The siren call, the last real rider
Some feel me as a shiver
A changing of the wind
I'll follow you wherever
I've been everywhere you've been
Even if I, if I want to
I can't let go
Can't unlove you
Even if I, if I want to
You should know that I'll be
Watching every step
I'm the neon light that's
Running through your cells
I'm the flicker on your skin

I'm in every breath
You're the part of me that I'll never regret
When you're lost I'll be the stranger
And the taxi driver
The flashing light, the night time fighter
The siren call, the last real rider
When you're lost I'll be the stranger
And the taxi driver
The flashing light, the night time fighter
The siren call, the last real rider
When you're lost I'll be there
When you're lost I'll be there
When you're lost I'll be the Stranger and the taxi driver
The flashing lights, the night time fighter
The siren call, the last real rider
Don't you know that I'll be
Watching every step?
I'm the neon light that's running
Through your cells