

Back for more – Night Mistress

Daylight? Darkness?
Day or night? Dead or alive?
The air is so warm, but isn't it cold?
Do you really know where you are now?
The shadows arise
I'm watching and see
They seem to be smiling
But laughing at me
I'm going to find the truth
I know that my mind doesn't lie
I cannot believe
That for so long I've been so blind
I try to define
The things I don't know
The things that I've never seen before
I think that I've died,
Now I'm back for more
Looking for something
That I haven't seen
I'm going somewhere
Where I haven't been
The wounds on my hands
Are visible now
The chain's digging deeper
The blood's running out
I look for another flame
I look for a new source of light
And I have a feeling
That close to me it's burning bright
I try to define
The things I don't know
The things that I've never seen before
I think that I've died,
Now I'm back for more
Looking for something
That I haven't seen

I'm going somewhere
Where I haven't been
Looking for something
That I haven't seen
I'm going somewhere
Where I haven't been
Looking for something
That I haven't seen
I'm going somewhere
Where I haven't been
That I haven't seen
I'm going somewhere
