This cold life - Paradise Lost

I can take one day to achieve my goal, Then it starts again In this circumstance that I call my own Dreams just don't deliver I never needed foes forever feeling low Cause they break me down Cannot fake this frown I never took offence I never swore in advance But I'll break you down With my poison mouth again I cannot deny bittersweet recline To a sole religion It's a certain way that I'm feeling host To a new deception I never needed foes forever feeling low Cause they break me down Cannot fake this frown I never took offence I never swore in advance But I'll break you down With my poison mouth again I can take one day to achieve my goal, Then it starts again In this circumstance that I call my own Dreams just don't deliver In this cold life In this cold life
