Mad At Disney – Salem Ilese

I'm mad at Disney, Disney They tricked me, tricked me Had me wishing on a shooting star But now I'm twenty-something I still know nothing About who I am or what I'm not So call me a pessimist But I don't believe in it Finding a true love's kiss is bullshit 'Cause I felt sad love I felt bad love Sometimes happy love (happy love) Turns into giving up (giving up) I felt hurt love By the word love What the hell is love supposed to feel like? What the hell is love? What the hell is love? What the hell is love supposed to feel like? My fairy grandma warned me Cinderella's story Only ended in a bad divorce The prince ain't sleeping when he Takes his sleeping beauty To the motel on his snow-white horse So call me a pessimist But I don't believe in it Finding a true love's kiss is bullshit 'Cause I felt sad love (sad love) I felt bad love (bad love) Sometimes happy love (happy love) Turns into giving up (giving up) I felt hurt love (hurt love) By the word love (word love) What the hell is love supposed to feel like? What the hell is love? What the hell is love? What the hell is love supposed to feel like?

What the hell is love? What the hell is love? What the hell is love supposed to feel like? I'm mad at Disney, Disney They tricked me, tricked me No more wishing on a shooting star
