

Brandon Lee – The 69 Eyes

What would there be
As the river of sadness turns into sea?
Could there be
Another thousand stories like you and me?
Wanted a heart, wanted a soul
More than anything else in this world
But we are doomed
Our flesh and wounds
I would never give in
Just like the moon does
We rise and shine and fall
Over you that I
Rise and shine and crawl
Victims aren't we all?
What would there be
Beyond the eyes of Brandon Lee?
Could there be
A revenging angel left to bleed?
Wanted the truth, wanted the faith
More than anything else in this world
But we are doomed
Body and soul marooned
I would never give in
Just like the moon does
We rise and shine and fall
Over you that I
Rise and shine and crawl
Victims aren't we all?
Just like the moon does
We rise and shine and fall
Over you that I
Rise and shine and crawl
Victims aren't we all?
Aren't we all?
Aren't we all?
Just like the moon does

We rise and shine and fall
Over you that I
Rise and shine and crawl
Victims aren't we all?
Just like the moon does
We rise and shine and fall
Over you that I
Rise and shine and crawl
Victims aren't we all?
Aren't we all?
Aren't we all?
