

White Walls – The Materia

I keep my eyes closed
And watch the spilt paint
On dome of the heart
My blackened fresco it falls apart
While I'm begging it to stop
Image's blurred; well, it slipped my mind
Paint is falling it's pining down
I wanted to feel
I will never again, never again
I thought I am free
I will never again, never again
Walls got blank leaving room so bright
That's why my shadow can grow so fast
I wanted to feel
I will never again, never again
I thought I am free
I will never again, never again
No leafs falling
White walls turning into black
And me sitting on the ground
Will it ever be enough
It's changing me
We wanted to feel
We will never again, never again
We thought we are free
We will never again, ever again
