

For All That We Know – Thomas Anders

So close yet so far
It's the same dream
Side people's hearts
Wherever they are
I remember your face
I remember the words you said
How can we spend
The rest of our lives
Living apart
For all that we know
They may not be stars in the sky
They may be lovers that die
Waiting for love to come
So many dreams
Just sky in the shell
We must be brave enough
To make them all come true
For all that we know
Why am I here?
Why are you there?
Sometimes this pain
It eats me away
It's too much to bear
It's open and shut
Is that how it must be
When maybe one day
Your word would change
You'll come to me
For all that we know
They may not be stars in the sky
They may be lovers that die
Waiting for love to come
So many dreams
Just sky in the shell
We must be brave enough
To make them all come true

For all that we know
I can hear your breath
At the edge of the sea
Much so always
The moon in the night
We walk to dream
The biggest dream
Of any king or any queen
As stars that flew
Across that night
Of the ether sense
Of the gentle breath
We need of feel
The memories will take a stain
So reach out and dream
The impossible dream
We must be strong enough
To make it all come true
For all that we know
They may not be stars in the sky
They may be lovers that die
Waiting for love to come
For all that we know
For all that we know
For all that we know
For all that we know
For all that we know
For all that we know
