

The land's revenge – Tuatha de Danann

I remember when this play
Began long time ago
Our relationship was too
Better than today
Before that was so much respect
Of each part of the game
Now it seems like you have
Forget all of this
You have going too far
Without looking back
You must remember: without me your
Life falls down
I thought that with you could learn
With the things that passed
I was expecting from an
Eternal beautiful road
Now is my turn to show you how
Strong is my revenge
Without my cares and my love you'll
Fall you'll see
It would be so easy to both
Of us to live well
And I never ask you much
(Never! Never!)
Only ask you attention, union,
Love and partnership
You come slaying parts of me
Day after day
Rivers, seas, lakes you have dirting
Woods, trees, animals you come slaying
Why don't you only take me
The enough you need?
Our existence would be wonderful, my dude
That's the last warning I'll give you:
Change the way you move on
Through the land I am

That's the last warning I'll give you:
Change the way you move on
Through the land I am
